

FAMILY TECH AGREEMENT

With this agreement you can establish clear expectations and rules about digital media together with your family.

Here are some possible questions to kickstart a conversation about online safety and screen time.

SHOW INTEREST

- What do you enjoy doing online?
- What are your favorite apps, games and websites?

TALK ABOUT THEIR ONLINE KNOWLEDGE

- Do you think it is safe to chat or play games with people you don't know online?

Explain that some people on the Internet don't always have the best intentions and may pretend to be someone else so it's better to interact only with people your kid knows personally (friends and family). Point out that your kid can always talk to you when a stranger makes them feel uncomfortable.

- How do you think you should talk to other people online?

Practice good Internet etiquette. Be kind, and don't do anything you wouldn't want someone to do to you. Your kid should know to always ask other people for their permission before posting anything about them.

- Do you check before posting or sharing anything online?

Explain that online information is very hard to delete - even livestreaming and disappearing content may still be used.

- Do you think everything on the Internet is true?

Make your kid aware of misinformation online and that they can always double check with you.

- Do you know why it is important to keep your personal information to yourself?

Some people with bad intentions may steal their information. Talk about privacy settings, strong passwords and being careful when strangers ask too many questions (personal information, video calls or photos, if parents are home, etc.).

ADDRESS SCREEN TIME

- How do you feel after spending too much time in front of the screen?

Make your kid think about “bad” behavior after too much screen time. If they don’t admit to it, share your observations with them. For example, is your kid aggressive or irritable after too much screen time?

Ohana helps us use digital media in a healthy and safe way.

- What could we do to avoid spending too much time in front of the screen?

Lead the conversation to doing more offline activities, establishing rules to limit screen time and developing a healthy relationship with screen use.

AND LASTLY,

- What can we all do to keep ourselves safe online?

Let your kid summarize your conversation and give you some tips. Make sure to highlight that they can always talk to you if something makes them feel uncomfortable or upset.

- How could Ohana help our family?

Explain why it's important to use technology responsibly and that Ohana can help your family develop good digital habits.

- Why do you think it's important to have this family agreement?

You could explain that there are rules for the “real world” and it's similar for the digital world.

- When or how often should we review our agreement?

Your kid's needs will change over time so make sure to revisit the agreement and update it.

- What if one of us breaks the agreement?

Establish a rule for consequences.
